

STORIES OF THE SEA PROJECT WEBSITE: DISCLAIMER AND TERMS OF USE

COPYRIGHT OF MATERIAL ON STORIES OF THE SEA WEBSITE

The information - e.g. photographs, images, maps, newspaper extracts, manuscripts, sound and video recordings, and text (collectively called 'Content') - contained in this website is protected by copyright laws.

These copyright laws are the Copyright, Designs & Patents Act 1988 as amended.

Copyright can cover issues such as moral rights, database rights, publication rights, rental and lending rights, and performer's rights. The content of the site comprises of copyright and out of copyright material.

The names, marks, images and logos identifying Stories of the Sea, AHRC and/or third parties are proprietary marks of these organisations and may not be reproduced without their prior written permission. Anyone republishing material from the Stories of the Sea website without permission is liable for any resulting infringement of copyright.

Every effort has been made to locate copyright holders of materials included on this website in order to obtain their permission to publish it. All known Copyright owners for various kinds of data contained on this website are identified at the end of this page.

If you need to contact us the details are the bottom of this page.

MORAL RIGHTS

It is the policy of the website and a moral right of an author to always be identified as the author of his or her own work. The author will always be identified if known.

USE OF THE STORIES OF THE SEA WEBSITE

Access to, and use of, the Stories of the Sea website (the 'Website') is provided subject to the following terms and conditions. Please read these terms carefully as your access to and use of the Stories of the Sea website will be deemed as acceptance by you of the terms of use.

Unauthorised attempts to deny service, upload information, change information, or to attempt to access non public data from this service are strictly prohibited and may be punishable to the full extent of the copyright law.

Internet websites normally qualify for copyright protection and probably database right protection under UK and ROI law. Each individual page is considered as a broadcast. In addition, any attempt to mount this material on another website will be considered an act of communicating the content to the public without the consent of the copyright owner which will infringe the Right of Communication to the Public. Database right will also be an issue as the site itself constitutes a database regardless of the status of the individual items incorporated in it.

Copyright in a broadcast web pages covers the signal sent, whereas copyright and database right cover the contents, so copyright would be infringed by:

- Copying of screen pages onto a computer
- Photographing multiple pages from the screen
- Showing screen pages in public to a paying audience
- Including screen pages on another website

NON-PERMITTED USE

Other than as expressly permitted by these terms of use, you may not copy, download, reproduce, publish, republish, post, transmit, modify, adapt, translate, manipulate, add to, delete from, adapt, distribute or otherwise use any Content in whole or in part, in any medium without prior written or electronic permission from the Stories of the Sea project or the relevant copyright holder. In addition, users shall not be entitled to reproduce Content (or any part thereof) without any identification mark or other mark of origin relating hitherto.

No Content, or any part thereof, may be permanently copied or reproduced in any form or reproduced on any other system or website, or stored in or transmitted to or from any other electronic or digital form in whole or in part.

Stories of the Sea project reserves the right to require the removal of any link established by a third party between the website and any third party website.

THIRD PARTY COPYRIGHT

From time to time the Content may include certain third party materials for which the copyright is not owned by Stories of the Sea. You may not store in any permanent form any items which state that copyright is not held by Stories of the Sea.

PERMITTED USE

Access to and use of the website is permitted only by individuals for personal and / or educational use, non-commercial purposes. Subject to certain limitations there is no infringement by 'fair dealing', e.g. using material for research (non-commercial) or private study, criticism, or for news and current affairs.

You may access and download the Content and store a copy on a temporary basis for the sole purpose of viewing such Content without alteration or addition. You may print any Content (other than third party copyright) in whole or in part provided that such reproduction is to be used only for personal and educational purposes.

HYPERLINKING POLICY

You do not have to ask permission to link to this website as long as it is a link directly to our homepage. It is the responsibility of the linking site to direct the users to read and understand the conditions of use information on our website, before entering the site. However we do not permit our pages to be loaded into frames on your site. The Stories of the Sea page must load into the user's entire window.

Stories of the Sea does not sponsor, endorse or otherwise approve of any information or statements appearing in any website which may be linked to the Website (nor in sites referred to in or linked to such websites). Listings should not be taken as endorsement of any kind.

We are not responsible for the content or reliability of linked websites. We cannot guarantee that these links will work at all time and we have no control over the availability of linked pages.

DISCLAIMER

The Content included on the Website has been compiled by Stories of the Sea from a variety of sources and is subject to change without notice. Although every effort has been made to contact the copyright holders of materials included on this website, if visitors consider materials to be their copyright and have not been contacted by Stories of the Sea or one of our associated partners, please contact Stories of the Sea, Research Institute for Irish & Celtic Studies, University of Ulster, Coleraine, BT52 1SA.

The Website is provided for research and educational information purposes only and the Website and its content are made available "as is" and "as available".

Stories of the Sea excludes to the fullest extent permitted by the law all warranties in relation to the Website and Content whether explicit or implied, including but not limited to the implied warranties of satisfactory quality and fitness for a particular purpose.

In no event shall Stories of the Sea project be liable for any damage to your computer equipment or software which may occur on account of your access to or use of the Website, or your downloading of materials, data, text, or images from the web site, whether caused by a virus, bug or otherwise.

Stories of the Sea does not warrant:

- That the information selected for the Website is comprehensive, complete, verified, organized or accurate
- That it is licensed by the copyright owner of any third party Content to include or reproduce such Content in the website
- That the website or its Content will be uninterrupted or error-free
- That the server from which the website is available is free of viruses or bugs

LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

Stories of the Sea shall not be liable for any losses or damages whatsoever, whether in contract, Tort (including negligence) or otherwise, arising from the content or the website.

Stories of the Sea shall not be liable for any losses or damages whatsoever arising from the operation or content of such third party websites.

Stories of the Sea, for the purposes of this notice, shall include its employees, partners, principal investigators, agents and representatives and any third-party providers or source of information or data.

Information on this Website may contain technical inaccuracies or typographical errors. The information contained on the Web site may be changed at any time without prior notification or obligation.

Please note that the above legal and disclaimer notices may be updated by us from time to time. By browsing our Website you accept that you are bound by the current legal and disclaimer notices and therefore recommend that you check these each time you re-visit the Stories of the Sea site.

PRIVACY STATEMENT

This website contains some personal information. It is our prime concern to ensure that we operate within the confines of the Data Protection Act 1998 and the Freedom of Information Act 1998.

For a copy of the information we hold on you or if you feel any of the data on this site has caused or is likely to cause substantial damage or distress to you or any other living person, please contact us at the address below.

FURTHER INFORMATION AND REQUESTS:

To request any permission or obtain further information in respect of the Website please write to: Stories of the Sea project, Research Institute for Irish & Celtic Studies, University of Ulster, Coleraine BT52 1SA

Copyright © Stories of the Sea

COPYRIGHT HOLDERS OF MATERIALS INCLUDED ON THIS WEBSITE

We gratefully acknowledge the generous permission of the following bodies to use or publish materials that these bodies have a copyright to:

- School of Scottish Studies Archives, University of Edinburgh, Edinburgh, Scotland
- National Folklore Collection, University College Dublin, Dublin, Republic of Ireland
- Acair Earranta, al. Acair Ltd. Publishers, Stornoway, Isle of Lewis, HS1 2QN
- The Mercier Press, Dublin, Ireland
- Foras na Gaeilge, Dublin, Republic of Ireland
- Gairm Publications, Glasgow G2 6BZ Scotland
- The O'Brien Press Ltd, Dublin

Please, note that the list is not exhaustive and other bodies will be indicated once the copyright permission of the material involved is received and as such duly acknowledged.

Supported by

Arts & Humanities
Research Council

In partnership with

